1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

This image shows a narrow vertical strip of a document, possibly a ledger or a table. The document is oriented vertically, and the strip captures a portion of its content. At the top, there is a header section with some text that is mostly illegible. Below the header, the document is organized into columns, separated by vertical lines. The columns contain text and numbers, but the resolution is too low to read the specific details. The overall appearance is that of a scanned document with significant blurring and a narrow field of view.
